DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-5, 7, 9-13 and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reynolds, US Patent No. 3,355,350.

Reynolds teaches a saveall device positioned between an upper roll of a press nip and a dewatering belt that runs above a pulp web, see Nip 2 of figure 1 and figure 2-3. Figures 1-3 show the wedge shape area with has a bottom strip 30, channel 36, water collecting troughs 27, opening 35 for draining the pocket 33 which is suction drained, (column 3, lines 22), see also column 4, line 66 through column 5, line 50. Note that the figures show that the bottom strip 30 is inclined at least 10° with respect to the Horizontal line. Even though the figures seem to show that the saveall and the dewatering belt run in parallel, claim 1 only recite that they run in acute angle to one another, without any specific inclination/angle and therefore, this is not only obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, but within the expected deviation from the desired standard, i.e., a certain degree of deviation from the desired state is always accounted for/permitted, since nothing is perfect and/or runs perfectly. Moreover, there is no evidence of the criticality of this limitation and/or a showing of unexpected results.

Reynolds is silent with regard to the distance between the suction channels or the absolute value of the under-pressure or vacuum. However, one of ordinary skill in the art would recognize that this is a matter of optimization of a result effective variables and it has been held that “[T]he discovery of an optimum value of a result effective variable in a known process is ordinarily within the skill of the art. In re Antoine, 559 F.2d 618, 195 USPQ 6 (CCPA 1977); In re Aller, 42 CCPA 824, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233 (1995).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5, 7, 9-13 and 15-17 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure in the art of "Savealls."
